Freshman Rhetoric

1947-1948

You are expected at the beginning of the course to make yourself thoroughly familiar with all items in this manual—preceding the calendar—and will be held responsible for the observation of all directions and regulations here given.

Objectives

Freshman Rhetoric is designed to help you develop, for use in college and afterward, the ability (a) to understand and evaluate what you hear and read, and (b) to write and speak intelligibly, effectively, and convincingly.

Directions for Preparing Manuscripts

Write on standard theme paper, one side only, with ink, and get clearly legible results. Do not use notebook paper.

If themes are typed, unruled white paper, $8\frac{1}{2} \times 11$, of medium weight should be used, and lines should be double-spaced; thin or flimsy paper will not be accepted.

Write the title of each theme at the top of the first page beginning on the first ruled line, and capitalize the first letter of each important word. Leave a space equivalent to one blank line between the title and the beginning of the theme. Leave a margin of one and a half inches at the left side and a margin of one inch at the right side of each page.

Indent the first line of each paragraph about an inch.

Number the pages of every theme over two pages in length.

Draw a horizontal line through words to be disregarded by the reader; do not enclose them in brackets or parentheses.

Fold themes once, lengthwise to the right, and endorse them on the lines provided for that purpose.

Each endorsement must give, in the following order:

1. Name of course, number of section, and name of instructor;
2. name of student (last name first); 3. date on which theme is written; 4. theme number in Arabic numerals; 5. title of theme. The correct form is given below:

Rhetoric 1, A1—Mr. Jones Smith, John November 2, 1947 Theme 1 Why I Came to College

Directions for Handling Themes

Late themes will not be accepted by the instructor except by special arrangement. Unless you are ill, this arrangement should preferably be made in advance. Delayed themes may not be made up at the rate of more than two a week, and will not be accepted within the last two weeks prior to the last class meeting.

No one who is delinquent in the written work of the semester will be given credit in the course.

Themes are to be revised in red ink or red pencil and returned to the instructor at the next meeting of the class after they are received. You should mark the date of revision below the grade or comment on the back of the theme.

Themes should not be rewritten unless the instructor so directs. When a theme is rewritten, the new copy should be endorsed like the original as to number and date, should be marked in red ink "Rewritten" just below the endorsement, and both the original and the rewritten copies, folded separately, should be returned to the instructor.

Credit is not given for themes until they are returned in revised or rewritten form for filing.

You should make copies of papers you wish to preserve, as themes are kept on file until the close of the year and are then destroyed.

Honesty in Written Work

Your endorsement on a theme is considered a pledge that it is an honest specimen of your writing proficiency. If you submit papers which are not genuine evidence of your own ability, you are thwarting your instructor's efforts to diagnose your writing ailments and to cure them. Moreover, a student guilty of plagiarism will be dropped from the course without credit and, on a second offense, expelled from the university. Bear in mind that your object in this course is to achieve proficiency through constant practice and through the development of your ability to criticize your own work. Your instructor considers your impromptu themes and your composition on the final examination the best evidence of your success in achieving proficiency in writing even under stress.

- 1. Do not literally repeat, without acknowledgment, phrases, sentences, or larger units of discourse from another writer or from your own previous compositions.
- Do not use another's main headings or general plan, or an expansion or a synopsis of another's work unless specifically advised to do so by your instructor.
- 3. Do not permit your work to be copied in whole or in part by another student.
- 4. Do not allow anyone other than your instsructor to correct or revise your papers at any stage in their composition. Bring this warning to the attention of scholarship advisers and others who may offer to "help" you.

A literary debt may be acknowledged by incidental reference to the source, either (a) by means of a phrase in the text, or (b) by use of a footnote.

Value of Grades

As nearly as possible, a fixed standard of grades is maintained throughout each semester. Thus a theme written in September is held to the same requirements as a theme written in January. Students who acquaint themselves with the objectives of the course and who strive to attain them are likely to experience a definite improvement in their grades as the semester advances. The standard is higher in the second semester than in the first. In general, Rhetoric 2 is as much beyond the Rhetoric 1 level as Rhetoric 1 is beyond the high school level, with a corresponding change in the value of grades.

Theme grades range from A to E. Plus and minus signs attached to grades are often temporarily helpful, but signify nothing in the final record. You should ask your instructor to explain grades and comments which you do not understand.

- A: A theme is graded A if it is of exceptional merit in form and content. Excellence of any kind—freshness of treatment, interest, originality in thought—will be given due recognition, but it must, in this course, be accompanied by accuracy and soundness in detail of structure. The instructor is quite as anxious to read interesting or brilliant themes as you are to write them.
- B: A theme definitely better than the average in form and content, but not of the highest excellence, is graded B. The grade indicates that the instructor is very favorably impressed.
- C: C is the average grade. A theme graded C is mechanically accurate, offers some variety of sentence construction and effectiveness of diction, is satisfactorily paragraphed, is satisfactorily organized as a whole, and is at least fair in content.
- D: D indicates the lowest quality of work for which credit is given. It is an unsatisfactory grade and often indicates a grave doubt in the mind of the instructor. It is therefore a danger sign.
- E: A grade of E means work too inferior for credit. Errors to be specially guarded against are listed below. You are cautioned against repeating errors in successive themes.

Faults in the details of writing:

Misspelled words
Sentence fragments
Comma splices
Sentences with violent changes in construction
Straggling sentences
Unclear or illogical sentences or diction
Bad errors in grammar

Faults in form and content:

Carelessness in the preparation of manuscript A marked failure to paragraph properly Straying from the subject A marked lack of coherence Inadequacy of content

Spelling Test

Your proficiency in spelling will be determined by your themes and, in addition, by a special spelling test (or tests) based on the section on spelling in the rhetoric text. In this test you are expected to make a grade of at least ninety per cent. This statement does not mean that if you make a grade, let us say, of eighty-eight per cent, you will fail in the course. In general, however, illiterate spelling is regarded as a sufficient cause for failure. A low grade in the test and poor spelling in themes are therefore to be guarded against.

As you work on your own spelling difficulties, make full use of pages 9, 27, and 45, below.

Conferences

You are urged to consult your instructor whenever you need advice regarding your rhetoric work. Occasionally instructors call students in for conference. Such conference appointments are a regular part of the course, and absence from them is regarded as a serious delinquency.

Proficiency Examinations

At the beginning of each semester, a proficiency examination in Freshman Rhetoric will be offered by the English Department. Students who fail the Rhetoric 1 proficiency examination will be denied admission to Rhetoric 1 and may prepare to pass the test at a later date (1) by enrolling in Rhetoric 0, a one-semester, non-credit, remedial course, (2) by tutoring, or (3) by independent study and practice in writing. Students who do exceptionally well on the proficiency examination will be granted exemption from Rhetoric 1 with three hours of credit. Likewise, students will be released from Rhetoric 2 with three hours of credit by passing a Rhetoric 2 examination. Students who prepare for these examinations should note that the proficiency examinations in Rhetoric 1 and 2 will be equivalent to those given at the end of the semester in the respective courses. According to a University ruling, a proficiency examination may not be taken to remove a failure in a course.

Final Examinations and Semester Grades

Final examinations in Rhetoric 1 and 2 are primarily tests of proficiency in English. Your instructor expects your final examination paper to demonstrate conclusively that you can, and will henceforth, write correctly and effectively even under pressure. In deciding on your semester grade, your instructor does not average your theme grades and indulge in mathematical calculations involving themes, talks, recitations, tests, etc. On the basis of all such evidence, he tries to determine just how proficient you are after a semester's study and practice. He will ignore low grades made at the first of the semester if work done later indicates genuine and permanent improvement; and he will likewise ignore high early grades if later work shows increasing carelessness and lack of effort. Your instructor is always willing to explain grades but he is not allowed to change them.

Green Caldron

The Green Caldron is a magazine in which appear some of the themes written by students in Rhetoric 1 and 2. A faculty committee makes the final selections from the work chosen by individual instructors. The themes chosen are not all A themes necessarily, but all are good, and each will be noteworthy as an illustration of at least one principle of successful writing. Four issues appear during the year, and to each issue at least one class recitation is devoted. You, therefore, are expected to provide yourself, at the times indicated in the Calendar, with copies of the magazine. They may be obtained at the Illini Union Bookstore, 715 S. Wright Street.

Supplementary Reading

One important aim of the course is to encourage good reading. In Room 104 of the University Library are shelved all the books listed in the Manual on pages 63-95. In accordance with plans announced by your instructor, you will be asked to read and report on several books each semester.

Research in the Library

The following suggestions and regulations may be helpful to students in using the library effectively for research themes.

1. Read your Library Handbook.

2. Start collecting material for your paper more than two weeks before it is due. Otherwise, the books you want may already be in use and cannot be procured in time to help you.

3. Plan to use the library in the morning and early afternoons of weekdays rather than Saturday afternoons, when the crowds are always largest. Many of the various departmental libraries you may be referred to are apt to be closed on Saturday afternoons.

4. If you are going to write a theme in the field of music, for instance, go directly to the Music Library for your material instead of starting in the General Library. You will undoubtedly find in the Music Library much more appropriate material than you would find in the General Library. You will have the advantage of asking the advice of the Music Librarian and of selecting your books from open shelves rather than from catalog cards.

5. The catalog in the General Library Building includes the holdings of all campus libraries. If the catalog card indicates that all copies of the book you want are in a library outside of the General

Library Building, go directly to the library indicated.

6. If the catalog card indicates copies both in the General Library Building and other campus libraries, you will often save time by going directly to the campus library, especially if the Circulation Desk

7. Notice on the catalog card the date of publication of the book. If it was published before 1900, library regulations will not permit you to take it out of the building. Doubtless, you will prefer to use more recently published materials, anyway.

8. Newspapers are generally unavailable for undergraduate student use.

9. When using Readers Guide and other indexes, copy exact reference the first time an article is used. Much time is wasted by looking up references several times. They are often hard to trace.

10. If you are asking for a volume of a periodical at the Circulation Desk, be sure to write on your call slip both the volume number and the date of the issue you want. The year is not enough, for large magazines like Life are bound four sections to a year.

11. Many periodicals are kept on open shelves in the Reference Room. Check with the chart at the Reference Desk to see if the particular volume you want is available before sending a call slip through at the Circulation Desk.

12. Periodicals may be used only in the Library.

Rhetoric 0 Objectives

Rhetoric 0 is planned to prepare you for admission to Rhetoric 1. In it you will study assignments designed to give you a working knowledge of grammar, correct sentence and paragraph construction, and punctuation. You will also be encouraged to enlarge your vocabulary and to improve your spelling. You will write many short compositions, which will be analyzed by your instructor and which you will revise and correct. You will analyze the writing of others and thereby develop powers of criticism and an awareness of standards which will help you improve your own writing.

You should bear in mind that Rhetoric 0 is not a required course. It is offered by the University to those willing to work to overcome their writing handicaps. By applying yourself you should be able to pass Rhetoric 0 and thus gain admission to Rhetoric 1. If you are negligent in doing the assigned work, you will be dropped from Rhetoric 0 and will thus lose the assistance the University has offered you. Instead of gaining admission to Rhetoric 1 by passing Rhetoric 0, you may attempt to do so by passing a proficiency test offered at the beginning of the next semester. If, by the beginning of your third semester, you have not gained admission to Rhetoric 1, you will be obliged to withdraw from the University.

A committee of three Rhetoric Staff members will study your Rhetoric 0 final examination to determine whether you have developed the proficiency necessary for admission to Rhetoric 1. If the committee approves your admission to Rhetoric 1, your instructor will then determine your semester grade on the basis of work done throughout the semester.

Rhetoric 1 Objectives and Plan

Rhetoric is primarily concerned with the written and oral expression of ideas based on personal observation and experience. It is designed to develop in you the ability (1) to express easily, accurately, and effectively the ideas and problems that arise in your own experience, (2) to read with understanding and pleasure, (3) to listen to others and understand the purpose, direction, and detail of what they are saying, and (4) to speak effectively and without embarrassment. To achieve these objectives you will be asked to write an average of a theme a week and to read some of your compositions aloud to the class.

Weeks 1- 3: Preparation.

Review of fundamentals.

Three themes. These are diagnostic. On the basis of your work on them you may be advised to withdraw from Rhetoric 1 and to enroll in Rhetoric 0.

Weeks 4-15: Observational exposition.

Paragraphing.

Reading of models in exposition, with attention to means of making experiences and procedures clear and interesting.

Study and practice in outlining.

Expository themes reporting experiences, processes, activities, etc. One long composition.

Oral or written appraisal of outside reading.

Concurrent study of basic principles of correct composition, with particular attention to spelling, punctuation, agreement, and reference. This phase of the course may be expanded or reduced by individual instructors according to the needs of particular classes.

Rhetoric 2 Objectives and Plan

Rhetoric 2, expecting a higher standard of achievement than that prevailing in Rhetoric 1, is primarily concerned with analytical and argumentative exposition. It is designed to perfect the abilities you developed in Rhetoric 1 and to develop in you the ability (1) to digest and evaluate the ideas of others, (2) to investigate and report the results of such investigation, (3) to test the arguments of others, and (4) to present your own arguments logically and persuasively.

NOTE: A student who receives a semester grade of C or D in Rhetoric 2 is required to take an English qualifying examination at the end of his sophomore year, and, if he fails the examination, to take Rhetoric 5, a remedial course for upperclassmen. A passing grade on the examination or in Rhetoric 5 is required for graduation.

Rhetoric 2

First Week

1. Your instructor will announce texts and assignments and will discuss the aims and organization of the course. You will take the first part of a diagnostic and placement test.

2. Theme 1, impromptu. Bring standard theme paper to class for this composistion.

3. "Definitions": ME pp. 7, 64-78, as assigned by your instructor.

Theme 2, an essay of definition. Be prepared to read this and subsequent themes in class to test their clarity and effectiveness. You may be reminded of the importance of independent effort in theme composition if you read again the Manual statement on honesty in written work (p. 4). Note especially the fourth point in that discussion.

5. "Analysis": ME pp. 6, 32-63, as assigned by your instructor.

6. Continuation of preceding assignment.

7. Theme 3, an essay of analysis, to be read and discussed in class.

8. Continued reading and discussion of Theme 3.

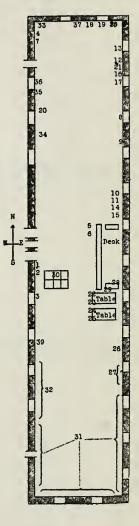

O "Library": HCH pp. 347-366.

10. "Research Paper": HCH pp. 366-387 or ME pp. 9, 176-

11. Submit full titles and main idea or thesis sentences for research projects which you might work out for Theme 7 and Theme 14.

25 Continued reading of Theme 8.

26. "Heartache on the Campus": ME pp. 170-176. Analyze the argument.

Tenth Week

27. Theme 9, impromptu.

28. Class reading and analysis of Theme 9.

REMINDER: No credit is given for themes until they are revised and returned to your instructor. No one who has not done all the assigned written work of the semester will be given a passing grade in the course.

29. "Argumentation": ME pp. 124-170, as assigned by your instructor.

30. Study selections in the current issue of the Green Caldron as assigned by your instructor.

31. Theme 10, a reply to an argumentative essay in the Green Caldron.

Theme 11, a sentence outline for Theme 13, a long exposition (1500 to 2000 words) based on research. Your instructor will discuss the next two assignments.

33. Half of the class will participate in a panel discussion of some controversial issue.

34. The remainder of the class will participate in a panel discussion of some other controversial issue.

Thirteenth Week

35. Be prepared to discuss selections from "Backgrounds": ME pp. 184-268, as assigned by your instructor.

36. Theme 12.

Last date on which late themes may be turned in

39 Theme 14, impromptu.

40. Be prepared to discuss selections from "Values": ME pp. 315-356, as assigned by your instructor.

Fifteenth Week

Theme 15. Be prepared to read your paper to the class.

42. Continuation of preceding assignment. Brief discussion of the final examination, the English qualifying examination, and advanced Rhetoric courses.

READING LIST

The books on this list are shelved in the Freshman Reading Room (Room 104 of the University Library). This entire room is given over to the use of students in Rhetoric 1 and 2 in order to encourage good reading among freshmen. The books are arranged on the shelves in the same order in which the titles are listed below. You are expected to select your books directly from the shelves with the aid of a card file containing brief descriptions of all books on the list. A librarian is always in the room to help you in the selection of books. Your instructor will make suggestions and specify requirements or limitations to apply to the preparing of reports for your section. (See p. 7.)

Hours of the Freshman Reading Room are as follows: Monday through Friday, 9 to 12, 1 to 6, and 7 to 10; Saturday, 9 to 12, 1 to 6. The room is closed on Saturday nights. When it is closed, books may be returned to North Reserve.

Books may be taken out for one week (with certain exceptions which may circulate for a longer time) and are renewable unless previously reserved by another student. By leaving your name at the desk, you may reserve a book in circulation and you will be notified when it is available for your use. The fine for overdue books is twenty-five cents a day until the book is returned.

The latest numbers of the Saturday Review of Literature and the book review sections of the New York Herald Tribune and the New York Times as well as a complete file of the Green Caldron are available for use in the Freshman Reading Room.
